DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-4, drawn to a method, classified in class 427, subclass 66.
 - II. Claims 5-13, drawn to an apparatus, classified in class 430, subclass 139.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I and II are related as apparatus and product made. The inventions in this relationship are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the apparatus as claimed is not an obvious apparatus for making the product and the apparatus can be used for making a materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different apparatus (MPEP § 806.05(g)). In this case, the luminescent pattern of invention I can be made by vapor depositing with a mask.

3. Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

4. Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

5. During a telephone conversation with John Smith on October 11, 2006 a provisional election was made without traverse to prosecute the invention of Group I, claims 1-4. Affirmation of this election must be made by applicant in replying to this Office action. Claims 5-13 are withdrawn from further consideration by the examiner, 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a non-elected invention.

Art Unit: 1762

6. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

7. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

8. Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kim et al. (U.S. Patent 6,146,715).

Kim discloses a method of making an organic electroluminescent device (EL) (abstract), the method comprising:

forming a first electrode 102 on a substrate 101;

forming an organic EL layer 105a on the first electrode; forming a second electrode 106a on the organic EL layer;

sealing the electrodes and EL layers with a protection layer 107a to produce an organic luminescence device having substantially uniform light emission characteristic;

irradiating the organic luminescence device with a laser beam to form a predetermined luminescent pattern thereon (col. 1, lines 45-49; col. 6; Figs 8A-8E)

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

9. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

10. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

11. Claims 2 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kim '715, as applied to claims 1 and 3, with evidence of inherency cited from http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Optical_spectrum (hereafter Wikipedia).

Kim is discussed above. Kim teaches using a laser beam having a green emission (wavelength of 530 nm, from Table 1) and lasers having emission wavelengths as low as 16 nm, but does not explicitly teach using a laser beam of a blue emission wavelength (wavelength of 450-495 nm, according to Wikipedia).

Kim does teach that a laser beam at an appropriate wavelength should be selected, based on the physical and chemical properties of the materials to be etched (col. 6, lines 53-60). It has been held that the discovery of the optimum value of a result effective variable in a known process is ordinarily within the skill in the art. In re Boesch and Slaney, 205 USPQ 215 (CCPA 1980). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to have used a laser of a blue emission in order to etch the layers of Kim through routine experimentation because Kim teaches that the physical and chemical properties determine the appropriate wavelength to be used and because the blue emission wavelength falls within the range of wavelengths taught in Table 1. One would have been motivated to do so in order to have optimized the etching process based on the specific materials of the layers.

Conclusion

12. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Bradley, Jr. et al. (U.S. Patent 5,824,374) teaches a method of patterning EL layers with a laser.
